

Thank you for this opportunity to participate in the UMD data challenge. Our topic was Packaged Foods and we definitely learned a lot on the whole process of data analysis. In addition, we were able to gather insight on the ingredients that go into packaged foods. We hope that all of our projects can be used to cultivate better living.